Using relevant long descriptive keywords for the alt attribute of your images not only helps with search engine optimization but also improves accessibility for visually impaired users.

For example, if you are promoting a fitness product, you can use long-tail keywords like "women's running shoes for high arches" as the alt attribute for your product image. This ensures that your website appears in relevant search results and attracts potential buyers.

2. Dropshipping

Dropshipping is another profitable business idea that requires minimal investment and allows you to sell products online without the need for inventory management or shipping. With dropshipping, you act as a middleman between the supplier and the customer, making it a hassle-free business model for beginners.

To start a dropshipping business, you need to select a niche, research reliable suppliers, and build an online store using platforms like Shopify. Once you have set up your store, you can list the products provided by your suppliers and market them to potential customers.

Using long-tail clickbait titles for your product descriptions can significantly boost click-through rates and drive more traffic to your website. For example, instead of a generic title like "Stylish Backpack," you can use a clickbait title like "This Backpack Is Taking the Market by Storm - Find Out Why!"

Remember to use relevant long descriptive keywords for the alt attribute of product images to improve search visibility and engagement.

3. Online Consulting

If you have expertise in a particular field, such as marketing, finance, or health, you can start an online consulting business. Many individuals and businesses are willing to pay for expert advice and guidance in various areas.

To establish yourself as a consultant, create a professional website that showcases your skills, experience, and testimonials. Develop a strong online presence by sharing valuable content through blog posts, videos, and social media. Promote your services and attract clients through targeted marketing campaigns.

Using relevant long descriptive keywords for the alt attribute of images on your website helps with search engine optimization, making it easier for potential clients to find you. Additionally, it enhances the user experience for those relying on screen readers or experiencing slow internet connections.

4. Online Courses

If you have in-depth knowledge or skills in a specific area, consider creating and selling online courses. The e-learning market continues to experience significant growth, and people are increasingly willing to invest in self-improvement and skill development.

To create an online course, identify a topic in which you have expertise. Plan and structure the course content in a logical manner, and consider using multimedia elements such as videos, quizzes, and downloadable resources to enhance the learning experience.

Using long-tail clickbait titles for your course titles can grab attention and entice potential learners. For example, instead of "to Photography," you can use a clickbait title like "Unlock Your Creativity: Master Photography in Just 7 Days!"

Remember to provide valuable and engaging content to attract positive reviews and build a reputable brand. Using relevant long descriptive keywords for the alt attribute of images in your course materials can improve search visibility and accessibility.

, these four business ideas provide excellent opportunities for newbie internet marketers to establish successful ventures in 2021. Whether you choose affiliate marketing, dropshipping, online consulting, or online courses, remember to use relevant long descriptive keywords for the alt attribute of images and craft enticing clickbait titles to attract potential customers and learners. Embrace these ideas, put in the necessary effort, and watch your online business thrive!
