The story, NO TIME FOR FEAR, chronicles the events that encompassed the author and his Partisan and Special Forces counterparts while undertaking sabotage, espionage and combat aggressions against the German occupation armies that were attempting to eliminate the Italian Partisans.

Those who served the resistance cause and participated in the gruesome day to day activities confronting the enemies were subjected to excruciating cold, intense fatigue, constant misery, lingering hunger and terrible discomfort. Although the total destruction from Partisan and Special Forces sabotage activities was never known, their participation assisted the Allied Armies in accomplishing great victories throughout Italy.
