Game Time! Are You Prepared To Hit or Will The Moment Overwhelm You?

You have been sitting the bench for eight innings, waiting for your opportunity to show coach your skills at the plate. With a tie game during the final inning, coach spits out his sunflower seeds and looks your direction: “grab a bat, you are hitting next!” A wave of excitement strikes: finally, a moment to compete. The player in the starting lineup (the player who coach chose to start over you today) had a difficult couple of games in a row. Now, coach has given you the opportunity to play. The pressure begins to mount. A big hit in this at-bat could lead to your joining the starting lineup next game. Most importantly, today’s game is on the line and the team needs a victory. After the initial wave of pressure and excitement, you regain your mental focus. You are strong minded, mentally prepared for the opportunity. You analyze the competing pitcher while warming up in the batting box. Finally, with the winning run on second base, two outs, you step to the plate. Are you ready to compete or will the moment overwhelm you? This is the book that GETS REAL about hitting. No fluff. No smoke. Have the right approach and be the hitter you want to be.
